Summary

I am a joint Ph.D. student of Westlake University and Zhejiang University, advised by Dr. Donglin Wang. Also, I am a member of MiLAB (Machine Intelligence Laboratory) in Westlake University, where I do my research work on machine learning, few-shot learning, and robot learning.

Research Interests

I am interested in technologies that allow machines and robots to learn like humans. In particular, I am committed to giving robots the ability to understand the world and learn from previous experiences, so that they can complete new tasks, acquire new skills or adapt to new environments rapidly with fewer samples through learning algorithms. Currently, my areas of interest include meta-learning, multi-task learning, and transfer learning. I am also interested in deep learning, computer vision, natural language processing, and multimodal machine learning.

Education

Zhejiang University & Westlake University

JOINT PH.D. STUDENT IN COMPUTER SCIENCE
